ADVERBES DE FRÉQUENCE

Les adverbes de fréquence peuvent être divisés en deux groupes :

(1) ceux comprenant une idée de fréquence définie, comme every day, annually et twice a week.

(2) ceux comprenant une idée de fréquence indéfinie, comme always, rarely et never.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Les adverbes de fréquence définie se placent généralement en début ou en fin de de phrase ou de proposition.
  INCORRECT [The manager checks every day the production levels.]
  CORRECT The manager checks the production levels every day.
- Les adverbes de fréquence indéfinie suivent le verbe be.
  INCORRECT [He usually is very friendly.]
  CORRECT He is usually very friendly.
- Les adverbes de fréquence indéfinie précèdent tous les autres verbes ou, si le verbe est précédé d'un auxiliaire, se placent après le premier auxiliaire.
  INCORRECT [This flight leaves always on time.]
  CORRECT This flight always leaves on time.

  INCORRECT [I would have never said that to her.]
  CORRECT I would never have said that to her.
- Attention aux subtilités de sens entre les différentes significations des différents adverbes.
  INCORRECT [There is yet time to correct that error.]
  CORRECT There is still time to correct that error.
- Certains adverbes de fréquence indéfinie peuvent se placer au début ou à la fin d'une phrase ou d'une proposition. Parmi eux, on trouvera frequently, generally, occasionally, often, sometimes et usually.
  INCORRECT [Always I eat lunch in the office.]
  CORRECT Usually I eat lunch in the office.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. Ms. Buta, who just arrived in this country with only a high school education, is ——— an accountant with a major company. (A) (B) (C) (D)

(A) every (C) yet
(B) already (D) often

2. Our sales manager ——— makes mistakes in her record keeping, so our accounts are perfectly balanced. (A) (B) (C) (D)

(A) usually (C) never
(B) yet (D) often

3. I went through all of the old records this morning and have come to the realization that production levels have——— been this high before. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) still (C) yet
(B) never (D) every month

4. If they ——— have not agreed on a theme after three full days of deliberation, we'll have no choice but to postpone the conference. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) often (C) already
(B) still (D) occasionally

5. Research and development funds are being reduced ——— because of budget cutbacks. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) every year (C) still
(B) never (D) always

6. ——— the right to limit quantities when you are selling seasonal items that are in high demand. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) Daily reserve (C) Always reserve
(B) Reserve often (D) Reserve generally

7. While earning her degree via an online school, Ms. Duthuit worked ——— summer as a receptionist for a dental hygienist. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) every (C) often
(B) always (D) still

8. I wish I could say we would hire her immediately, but she hasn't ——— completed her training course. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) still (C) never
(B) seldom (D) yet

9. Do not ——— without consulting either me or one of the managers from the head office. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) invest never (C) ever invest
(B) still invest (D) already invest

10. ——— he prefers to communicate by e-mail, but his server is down and nobody can get in to look at it until tomorrow. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) Usually (C) Never
(B) Yet (D) Ever

CONJONCTIONS

Une conjonction est un mot qui sert à lier les mots, les groupes de mots ou les propositions. On trouve deux types de conjonctions : les conjonctions de coordination (and, or, nor, but, etc.) et les conjonctions de subordination (although, since, because, when, before, etc.).

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Les conjonctions de coordination peuvent lier des idées semblables (and, not only ... but also), des idées opposées ou contradictoires (but), ou des choix (either ... or, neither ... nor). Attention à la signification de ces conjonctions.

  INCORRECT [It is efficient or maintenance-free.]
  CORRECT It is efficient and maintenance-free.

  INCORRECT [We can take either a morning flight but an early afternoon flight.]
  CORRECT We can take either a morning flight or an early afternoon flight.

- Les conjonctions de subordination montrent différentes sortes de relations entre deux propositions. Elles peuvent exprimer la cause et l'effet (because, so, as, since), le temps (when, while, after, before, until, as soon as), la condition (if, unless) ou une contradiction (even though, although). Encore une fois, soyez attentif à la signification des conjonctions de subordination.

  INCORRECT [The machine shut off even though the power went off.]
  CORRECT The machine shut off when the power went off.

  INCORRECT [I couldn't call them until I don't know their phone number.]
  CORRECT I couldn't call them because I don't know their phone number.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. ——— she possesses such business acumen, she was able to regain control of the company. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) Despite (C) Because
   (B) Even though (D) For

2. For a more effective ad campaign, we need both a new product ——— a creative, imaginative director. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) or (C) and
   (B) either (D) so

3. Our department did not reach its monthly quota ——— we worked a lot of overtime and hired two temporary workers. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) because of (C) despite
(B) even though (D) but

4. Tyrone's sister Marsha, who I had little faith in at the beginning, has proved to be not only ambitious ——— hard working. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) or (C) and also
(B) neither (D) but also

5. ——— Mr. Myers enters the boardroom, everyone should stand up and applaud him for his valiant efforts in the campaign. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) When (C) So
(B) While (D) Since

6. With the help of a few eager student interns, today's mail will be sorted ——— it arrives at our division. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) before (C) or
(B) until (D) though

7. Mr. Fagan notified security by telephone ——— he heard something suspicious going on in the elevator. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) so (C) although
(B) when (D) because of

8. As was mentioned in our earlier announcement, the plane cannot leave the gate ——— all passengers are seated and baggage is safely stowed. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) if (C) unless
(B) when (D) but

9. ——— she opened the meeting and addressed the current issues, the project director faxed the agenda to the vice president. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) But (C) And
(B) If (D) Before

10. ——— the research uncovered some problems, the committee members decided to table the proposal temporarily. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) Since (C) In spite of
(B) Even though (D) Whatever

PRÉPOSITIONS

Les prépositions lient leurs objets aux autres structures au sein de la phrase. Elles sont utilisées pour exprimer des notions d'emplacement, de temps, de direction, de cause et de lieu. Elles peuvent également être utilisées seules ou dans le cadre de combinaisons de deux ou trois mots. Malheureusement, les prépositions sont souvent utilisées de manière idiomatique et sont souvent en contradiction avec les règles. Elles doivent donc être apprises par cœur. Il existe malgré tout quelques règles.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- At est utilisé pour désigner un moment précis.
  - INCORRECT [We will convene to 10:00 A.M.]
  - CORRECT We will convene at 10:00 A.M.
- On est utilisé pour désigner un jour précis.
  - INCORRECT [The deadline is at Friday.]
  - CORRECT The deadline is on Friday.
- In est utilisé pour désigner une ville spécifique.
  - INCORRECT [She was born at San Francisco.]
  - CORRECT She was born in San Francisco.
- On est utilisé pour désigner une date précise.
  - INCORRECT [The contract was signed in September 5.]
  - CORRECT The contract was signed on September 5.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. ——— all the applicants, the woman who came in dressed sloppily in blue jeans and a T-shirt has the most experience. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) From (C) Of
   (B) By (D) To

2. Please note that though we didn't anticipate local authorities searching our offices, an investigation will be held ——— Monday at 9:00 A.M. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) at (C) to
   (B) for (D) on

3. Just like bellhops, front desk receptionists, and dining room servers, all housekeepers report directly ——— the hotel manager. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) for (C) in
   (B) at (D) to

4. The plant will be closed ——— noon tomorrow for its annual safety inspection. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) with (C) at
(B) in (D) from

5. ——— terms of product quality and customer service, our company surpasses the competition. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) In (C) From
(B) By (D) With

6. Debtors are expected to remain ——— heavy economic pressure unless the interest rates are lowered. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) below (C) beneath
(B) from (D) under

7. The sales meetings Mr. Suzuki proposed in last month's forum will officially be held ——— Tokyo in the first week of May. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) to (C) at
(B) in (D) on

8. Though everything depends on weather conditions at this time of year, the shipment is due to arrive by cargo ——— a week. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) within (C) until
(B) for (D) on

9. Despite the fact that we have nothing left to work with, the construction supplies cannot be ordered ——— next Thursday. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) from (C) at
(B) to (D) until

10. According to the report published in today's Sun, the local government plans to reduce spending ——— one million dollars. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) at (C) with
(B) by (D) of

MOTS DE TRANSITION

Les mots de transition sont utilisés pour lier deux (ou plus) propositions ou phrases indépendantes. Lorsqu'on lie deux propositions indépendantes, les mots de transition peuvent être précédés d'un point-virgule. Notez que only et else sont souvent précédés d'une virgule, et non d'un point-virgule. Parmi les mots de transition les plus courants, on trouve :

accordingly	furthermore	nevertheless
besides	however	for example
consequently	moreover	meanwhile
then	as a result	on the whole
hence	to this end	for this purpose
so	therefore	in addition

Il est très important de choisir le bon mot de transition afin de ne pas passer à côté du sens voulu.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Therefore, thus, so, accordingly, hence et consequently sont utilisés pour montrer une relation de cause à effet entre deux propositions.
  - INCORRECT [She produces the most; nevertheless, she will be promoted.]
  - CORRECT She produces the most; consequently, she will be promoted.
- However et nevertheless sont utilisés pour montrer quelque chose qui vient contredire une proposition principale.
  - INCORRECT [He would have been a good representative; so he does not speak their language.]
  - CORRECT He would have been a good representative; however, he does not speak their language.
- Also, in addition, moreover et furthermore sont utilisés pour montrer que quelque chose est ajouté à l'idée exprimée dans la proposition principale.
  - INCORRECT [There will be a memo on the subject; however, there will be an announcement.]
  - CORRECT There will be a memo on the subject; in addition, there will be an announcement.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. Cable TV revolutionized communications; ———, the very existence of that service is now threatened by satellites. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) consequently (C) for example
   (B) moreover (D) nevertheless

2. Hospitals are competing for a shrinking market share; ———, they are attempting to discover the most cost-effective and highest quality care. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) therefore (C) also
   (B) besides (D) furthermore

3. These ads can bring in revenue; ———, because they are government sponsored, they can keep our costs to a minimum. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) for example (C) moreover
   (B) on the whole (D) however

4. The firm intends to move its plant; ———, it will keep sales, marketing, and distribution here. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) to this end (C) consequently
   (B) nevertheless (D) furthermore

5. The contract only runs for one year; ———, there are options to renew for two more years should we require their assistance further. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) meanwhile (C) however
   (B) besides (D) moreover

6. Our shoe sales have increased recently; ———, we are optimistic about future growth in the footwear department. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) however (C) nevertheless
   (B) thus (D) also

7. Since its inception, the bank has lent $28 billion ———, its membership has grown to include 16 regional countries. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) thus (C) in addition
   (B) on the whole (D) nevertheless

8. We are on the whole a local company; ———, we can offer services beyond our area as long as it is within the state lines. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) nevertheless (C) accordingly
(B) meanwhile (D) hence

9. The woman who volunteered her services in Africa and Asia had the most hands-on experience; ——— she was hired. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) nevertheless (C) however
(B) furthermore (D) therefore

10. Our banking clients want flexibility; ———, we provide ATMs (automated teller machines) for 24-hour use. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) moreover (C) consequently
(B) however (D) furthermore

VERBES : LES CAUSATIFS

Les verbes causatifs montrent que quelqu'un ou quelque chose est à l'origine d'une action. Les verbes causatifs les plus fréquents sont get, make et have. Les verbes comme order, cause, force et want peuvent également faire partie des verbes causatifs. Ils sont tous suivis de propositions nominales.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Si l'objet direct des verbes causatifs make, have et let a été, est ou va être à l'origine de l'action, c'est la base verbale du verbe qui est utilisée.
  INCORRECT [He had the secretary signed for the package.]
  CORRECT He had the secretary sign for the package.
- Si l'objet direct des autres verbes causatifs (comme get, want, order, cause, etc.) a été, est ou va être à l'origine de l'action, c'est l'infinitif complet du verbe qui est utilisé.
  INCORRECT [He ordered everyone leave the room.]
  CORRECT He ordered everyone to leave the room.
- Si l'objet direct du verbe causatif a subi, subit ou va subir l'action, c'est le participe passé du verbe qui est utilisé.
  INCORRECT [We will want the invoices will be returned at once.]
  CORRECT We will want the invoices returned at once.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. In the future, the company will not let its part-time and temporary employees ——— overtime. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) to work
   (B) be working
   (C) worked
   (D) work

2. Despite 20 years of success, the financial stress and burden of the sudden recession made the partnership ———. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) fail
   (B) to fail
   (C) failed
   (D) to be failed

3. The firm wants its product ——— safely and in a timely manner; otherwise it will seek an alternative shipper. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) package
   (B) be packaged
   (C) packaged
   (D) packaging

4. All employees were able to get their paychecks ——— before the power outage closed the banks. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) deposits (C) depositing
(B) deposited (D) be deposited

5. The severe weather conditions in the alpine regions forced the airlines ——— all outgoing flights and divert incoming planes. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) canceling (C) cancel
(B) to cancel (D) canceled

6. I received a text message from Takeshi yesterday, and it mentioned that they had the equipment ——— yesterday. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) shipped (C) was shipped
(B) ship (D) was being shipped

7. Before Annie ran out for a meeting yesterday, she had Ms. Brunelli ——— the new clerk around the premises. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) show (C) showing
(B) showed (D) was showed

8. The increase in layoffs over the past two fiscal periods has caused everyone ——— less secure. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) feels (C) was felt
(B) felt (D) to feel

9. What company besides ours would make its employees ——— overtime on a national holiday? Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) will be working (C) be working
(B) worked (D) work

10. A wise consumer gets his or her phone order ——— in writing before submitting payment. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) confirming (C) confirmed
(B) confirms (D) confirm

VERBES : LES CONDITIONNELS

Les phrases conditionnelles sont composées de deux parties distinctes : la proposition introduite par if (condition) et la résultative. Dans chaque partie, la forme du verbe change en fonction du temps de l'action. Cette structure est utilisée pour formuler des affirmations réelles ou non, au présent et au passé.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Pour exprimer une condition réelle au futur, le verbe de la proposition introduite par if est en général au présent simple, tandis que le verbe de la résultative est au futur ou à l'impératif.

  INCORRECT [If taxes will go up, we will need to borrow money.]
  CORRECT If taxes go up, we will need to borrow money.

- Il arrive que le verbe de la proposition introduite par if contienne l'auxiliaire modal will. Ceci est dû au fait que, à l'origine, will signifie vouloir. Pour dire que quelqu'un veut ou ne veut pas faire quelque chose, vous pouvez utiliser will + verbe au lieu du présent simple dans la proposition.

  CORRECT If they don't compromise, we should cancel the negotiations.
  OPTION If they won't compromise, we should cancel the negotiations.

- Pour exprimer une condition réelle dans le passé, le verbe de la proposition introduite par if est au passé, tout comme le verbe de la résultative.

  INCORRECT [If they were waiting for a counteroffer, they would be wise.]
  CORRECT If they were waiting for a counteroffer, they were wise.

- Pour exprimer une condition irréelle dans le présent, le verbe de la proposition introduite par if est au passé, tandis que le verbe de la résultative est would ou could, plus la base verbale.

  INCORRECT [If elephants have wings, they fly.]
  CORRECT If elephants had wings, they could fly.

- Pour exprimer une condition irréelle dans le passé, le verbe de la proposition introduite par if est au past perfect, tandis que le verbe de la résultative est would have ou could have, plus le participe passé.

  INCORRECT [His choice would have been excellent if he listened to our advice.]
  CORRECT His choice would have been excellent if he had listened to our advice.

- Pour exprimer une condition irréelle dans le présent, le verbe be de la proposition introduite par if est en général were, mais il peut parfois être was. En général, les gens préfèrent utiliser were.

  DE PRÉFERENCE She would raise salaries if she were the manager.
  OPTION She would raise salaries if she was the manager.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. I thought by now we would have learned the lesson that if we ignore overhead, we ——— our expenses. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) underestimating (C) would underestimate
   (B) will underestimate (D) have underestimated

2. If the yield ——— up from 9.8 percent, it would have been the highest average yield since 1992. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) would go (C) will go
   (B) has gone (D) had gone

3. They will import 750,000 more automobiles a year if international quotas set by the ministry ——— lifted. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) are (C) will be
   (B) be (D) have been

4. If the government ——— an import fee, as it has threatened to do for years, prices of consumer goods will increase by at least 10 percent. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) will impose (C) has imposed
   (B) imposes (D) is imposing

5. Their monetary unit ——— stronger if they did something about their deficit. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) will be (C) can be
   (B) would be (D) should be

6. If there had been fringe benefits, such as a company car or stock options, I ——— applying for the position. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) could consider (C) would have considered
   (B) considering (D) will be considering

7. If the wage parity agreement ——— approved, there might have been a strike. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) was not (C) had not been
   (B) is not (D) will not be

8. The boss will offer Gordon a substantial promotion if he ——— to be more tactful during business meetings. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

   (A) will learn (C) should learn
   (B) had learned (D) were learning

9. This purchase ——— a poor decision if it had been made for investment purposes only. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) would have been
(B) would be
(C) may be
(D) was

10. If he had taken flight 307 as was arranged for him in the original itinerary, he ——— on time for the luncheon. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) arrives
(B) was arriving
(C) would have arrived
(D) arrived

VERBES : LES TEMPS

Les temps en anglais ont quatre formes principales :

PRÉSENT SIMPLE	PRÉTÉRIT SIMPLE	PARTICIPE PASSÉ	PARTICIPE PRÉSENT
walk	walked	walked	walking
do	did	done	doing
speak	spoke	spoken	speaking
come	came	come	coming

Pour choisir le temps approprié, cherchez des indices dans la phrase. Ces indices peuvent être des adverbes (marqueurs temporels), d'autres verbes dans la phrase ou les verbes eux-mêmes (qui peuvent être limités à certains temps).

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Certains marqueurs temporels (now, tomorrow, since, etc.) indiquent le temps d'un verbe.
  - INCORRECT [I deal with his firm since 1988.]
  - CORRECT I have dealt with his firm since 1988.
- Le verbe de la proposition principale d'une phrase détermine le temps approprié de la proposition dépendante.
  - INCORRECT [He signed the release before he will read it.]
  - CORRECT He signed the release before he read it.
- Les verbes d'état (seem, become, know, understand, be, etc.) ne s'emploient pas à la forme continue.
  - INCORRECT [If I'm understanding what you mean, I have to agree.]
  - CORRECT If I understand what you mean, I have to agree.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. The express train always ——— on time, unlike the local, which is always late. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) is arriving (C) has been arriving
   (B) arrives (D) arrive

2. When the shipment ———, he will dispatch it to the proper department. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) will come in (C) comes in
   (B) is coming in (D) is going to come in

3. Go ahead with the proposal, as long as everyone ——— that the goal is to improve upon last year's event. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) is understanding (C) will understand
(B) understand (D) understands

4. Even before our researcher analyzed the online customer reviews and ratings, we ——— to take on the client. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) has agreed (C) agrees
(B) agreed (D) was agreed

5. She ——— five years ago today; therefore, her request for a raise is definitely worth reviewing. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) is being promoted (C) was promoted
(B) promoted (D) has been promoted

6. Our newest franchise ——— in two months, so we need to start hiring new employees. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) would open (C) will open
(B) had opened (D) has opened

7. The board reported that, even though we didn't consult them first, it ——— a good decision to find a new director. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) was (C) is
(B) be (D) were

8. The survey indicated that profits are up by 20 percent the first two quarters of this year; business ———. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) is being good (C) good
(B) were good (D) has been good

9. As I sit here wondering how we will possibly get this project done on time, I ——— that you all have time to take a two-hour lunch break. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) cannot believe (C) am not believing
(B) could not believe (D) cannot be believing

10. By this time next year, the appearance of our reception area and front offices ——— greatly improved. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) has been (C) is
(B) will be (D) is being

VERBES : LES VERBES COMPOSÉS

Les verbes composés sont constitués de mots qui ont chacun un sens en eux-mêmes, mais qui ont un sens différent lorsqu'ils sont combinés. Par exemple, turn signifie tourner, et down signifie du haut vers le bas. Ensemble, ils signifient rejeter (une proposition, par exemple) ou baisser (le volume). Dans la mesure où les combinaisons ne sont pas toujours prévisibles, il est nécessaire de s'habituer à elles et d'apprendre à reconnaître ces verbes composés. Quelques-uns de ces verbes figurent dans l'exercice ci-dessous.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. If during our lunch hour you cannot ——— on the phone, try sending us the referrals by e-mail or fax. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) get to (C) come by
   (B) get through (D) get by

2. During tough negotiations, such as the ones we have witnessed over the last week or so, neither side wants to ———. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) give in (C) take hold
   (B) get by (D) come on

3. It is mandatory to ——— all potential hazards before marketing your product. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) look to (C) look from
   (B) look away (D) look into

4. If you ——— an error in reviewing the proposal, please bring it to my attention. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) come on (C) come across
   (B) look to (D) get in

5. It is understood that her closest advisor will ——— as president should she resign early. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) take up (C) get by
   (B) take over (D) come about

6. This time around we need to send a representative we can ———, rather than someone who simply looks good. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) stand for (C) count on
   (B) catch on (D) find out

7. While you're at the conference, take an afternoon to ——— and check out the competition's booths. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) look out
(B) look around
(C) look for
(D) look through

8. If they refuse to meet us halfway on this point, we should not ——— them in the future. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) stand up
(B) deal with
(C) keep to
(D) run into

9. Since the members are unable to meet now, we have ——— the meeting until tomorrow. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) taken off
(B) taken from
(C) put on
(D) put off

10. It is regrettable that two items were ——— of the invoice and need to be added immediately. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) left out
(B) stood out
(C) found out
(D) cut up

MOTS DE LA MÊME FAMILLE

Il existe en anglais des mots de base (ou racines) à partir desquels d'autres mots sont dérivés. On appelle cela des familles de mots. À partir d'un même mot, on peut dériver des noms, des verbes, des adjectifs et des adverbes. On identifie souvent ces mots par leurs suffixes (ou leurs terminaisons).

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Les suffixes nominaux incluent : -ance, -ancy, -ence, -ency, -ation, -dom, -ism, -ment, -ness, -ship, -or, -ion.
  - INCORRECT [We have profited from his employing.]
  - CORRECT We have profited from his employment.
- Les suffixes adjectivaux incluent : -able, -ible, -al, -ful, -ish, -ive.
  - INCORRECT [His business is unsuccessfully.]
  - CORRECT His business is unsuccessful.
- Les suffixes adverbiaux incluent : -ly, -word, -wise.
  - INCORRECT [The presentation was given profession.]
  - CORRECT The presentation was given professionally.
- Les suffixes verbaux incluent : -en, -ify, -ize.
  - INCORRECT [This client will strength our credibility.]
  - CORRECT This client will strengthen our credibility.

Sélectionnez la réponse appropriée au contexte.

1. Like no other member we have ever employed, Maria exercised a ——— influence on the firm. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) dominance (C) dominant
   (B) dominate (D) dominantly

2. The recommendation, which was faxed by the president herself, was ——— to the success of the merger. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) criticism (C) critic
   (B) critique (D) critical

3. Fortunately, his response ——— the board members, and the meeting was finally adjourned. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) satisfaction (C) satisfied
   (B) satisfactory (D) satisfactorily

4. While it may have seemed like we were being overly critical in our evaluation, the client's ——— was rewarded in the end. (A) (B) (C) (D)

   (A) persistence (C) persist
   (B) persistently (D) persistent

5. An experienced ——— will explain the new system to the trainees during our technical tutorial. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) operatic (C) operate
(B) operation (D) operator

6. As is the case with the parking garage entrance, the front doors are run ———, not manually. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) electric (C) electrical
(B) electronically (D) electron

7. While she ——— in systems analysis, we sometimes call on her to speak at client workshops as well. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) specialist (C) specials
(B) specialization (D) specializes

8. The last ——— has made its bid, so let's choose the one to hire. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) contractor (C) contraction
(B) contractive (D) contract

9. The ——— person to lead staff out of the building in an emergency is the person sitting closest to the exit. Ⓐ Ⓑ Ⓒ Ⓓ

(A) designation (C) designated
(B) designator (D) designative

10. It is risky to ——— for huge profits without a cash reserve.

(A) speculators (C) speculate
(B) speculative (D) speculation

ADJECTIFS : COMPARATIF ET SUPERLATIF

Les adjectifs peuvent être utilisés pour comparer deux choses (comparatif) ou plus de deux choses (superlatif). Les comparaisons peuvent être faites en additionnant les terminaisons -er ou -est à la base du mot (prettier, the prettiest), ou en plaçant more ou most devant le mot (more intelligent, the most intelligent).*

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- La forme comparative est suivie de than.
  INCORRECT [They seem more experienced then they are.]
  CORRECT They seem more experienced than they are.
- The précède l'adjectif à la forme superlative.
  INCORRECT [Biggest demand is from the Midwest.]
  CORRECT The biggest demand is from the Midwest.
- Lorsque l'on compare trois choses et plus, on utilise le superlatif.
  INCORRECT [This is the more obvious problem we face.]
  CORRECT This is the most obvious problem we face.
- Lorsque l'on fait un comparatif d'égalité entre deux choses, on utilise la structure as + adjectif + as.
  INCORRECT [Fred is not ambitious as Mark.]
  CORRECT Fred is not as ambitious as Mark.
- Retenez les cinq formes irrégulières de comparatifs et de superlatifs.

good	better	the best
bad	worse	the worst
far	farther, further	the farthest, furthest
little	less	the least
many, much	more	the most

INCORRECT [This is the worse indicator we have seen yet.]
CORRECT This is the worst indicator we have seen yet.

GÉRONDIFS ET INFINITIFS

Les gérondifs (verbe + -ing) et les infinitifs (to + verbe) sont des formes verbales qui peuvent être utilisées en tant que noms. Ils peuvent être utilisés n'importe où dans la phrase, là où on pourrait mettre un nom. Lorsqu'ils sont utilisés comme objets directs, le choix d'utiliser un gérondif ou un infinitif dépend du verbe principal. Ces structures verbales doivent être apprises ; on les trouve dans n'importe quel livre de grammaire de référence.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Certains verbes sont suivis du gérondif (admit, consider, enjoy, stop, etc.).
  INCORRECT [He regretted to retire so early.]
  CORRECT He regretted retiring so early.
- Certains verbes sont suivis de l'infinitif (afford, ask, decide, expect, etc.).
  INCORRECT [We expect arriving late.]
  CORRECT We expect to arrive late.

MODAUX

Les modaux sont des auxiliaires (aides) qui signalent le temps du verbe et ajoutent quelque chose à sa signification.

PRÉSENT/FUTUR MODAUX	PASSÉ MODAUX	PARFAIT MODAUX
can	could	could have
may	might	might have
will	would	would have
shall	should	should have
must		must have
has/have to	had to	has/have had to

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Lorsque le verbe principal est au présent, le modal de la proposition subordonnée est aussi au présent.

  INCORRECT [The final decision is that he could go ahead with his project.]
  CORRECT The final decision is that he can go ahead with his project.

- Lorsque le verbe principal est au passé, le modal de la proposition subordonnée est aussi au passé.

  INCORRECT [Last month he thought he will retire.]
  CORRECT Last month he thought he would retire.

- Les modaux à la forme perfective sont utilisés lorsque l'action du verbe de la proposition subordonnée est supposée avoir déjà eu lieu.

  INCORRECT [I thought he should be promoted last month.]
  CORRECT I thought he should have been promoted last month.

  INCORRECT [They agree that we might make a mistake yesterday.]
  CORRECT They agree that we might have made a mistake yesterday.

- Must a deux sens distincts. Lorsque must signifie la « nécessité », le passé est had to ; lorsqu'il exprime une conclusion logique, la forme perfective must have est utilisée.

  INCORRECT [She must have used her vacation days, or she would have lost them.]
  CORRECT She had to use her vacation days, or she would have lost them.

  INCORRECT [Here's Brad's report. He had to forget to take it.]
  CORRECT Here's Brad's report. He must have forgotten to take it.

EXERCICE D'APPLICATION 1

Les questions 1 à 3 font référence à la lettre suivante.

ELC LITERARY AGENCY
Via Terenzio, 21
20138 Milano
ITALY

Mr. N. Ellis
77 Kingsbury Road
EDGEWARE
Middlesex
HA0 8XG

Dear Mr. Ellis: September 5, 20__

I apologize _____ so long to acknowledge your cookbook proposal for European

1. (A) to take
   (B) for taking
   (C) the taking of
   (D) to be taking

Youth in the Kitchen. My colleagues and I feel your proposal has merit, and we would like you to supply additional information in support of your proposal.

We ask that you submit three chapters with _____ pages keyed to a table of contents.

2. (A) numeral
   (B) number
   (C) numbered
   (D) numbering

We would also like you to send your résumé and copies of any of your other publications. Most important, please include a few recipes for us _____ and perhaps even test.

3. (A) review
   (B) reviewing
   (C) for reviewers
   (D) to review

Once the manuscript has been evaluated, we will be in touch. It is more likely than not that you will be asked to submit more chapters for review. You might want to begin work on these chapters now.

Sincerely,

Mario Rossi

Mario Rossi
Literary Agent, ELC

Les questions 4 à 6 font référence à l'e-mail suivant.

To: elenandfamily
From: salesrep234
Re: Holiday Prices

Dear Customer,

Our records show that you are among the top ten percent of our valuable customers for this year. As a preferred customer, you are eligible _____ special holiday discounts. You will receive 10% off all of your

4. (A) receipt
(B) to receive
(C) for receiving
(D) received

online purchases made in December. This 10% can be combined with any online promotion. These are our _____ prices ever.

5. (A) low
(B) lower
(C) lowering
(D) lowest

When you log in, please identify yourself as a preferred customer by using this special login ID: XP3744. You should not share this login ID with your friends or family, but you _____ purchase gifts for them.

6. (A) would
(B) may
(C) had better
(D) will

When you use your preferred login ID, you will not only receive our lowest price, but you will also get double bonus points that you can apply to future purchases. With 600 bonus points you could purchase a set of golf clubs for just $499. For 10,000 points, you can get a golf cart for $1,525.

Thank you for your continued business. We look forward to serving you.

The Sporting Goods Store Staff

Les questions 7 à 9 font référence à l'article suivant.

KOREA POST: Business Travelers Feel the Stress

New studies have shown that business travelers are more likely to suffer from heart failure, high blood pressure, and arthritis than those who only travel for pleasure.

Besides being cramped for long periods of time in airplanes, buses, and taxis, business travelers often experience tense muscles and are more subject to back spasms and blood clots than those who don't travel often. In addition, business travelers rarely get a good night's sleep.

Dr. Ky-Yung Hwang of the Busan Sleep Lab says that people _____ always travel with their own pillow. "If business travelers can

7. (A) might
   (B) will
   (C) should
   (D) can't

bring their laptops on board, there's no reason why they can't bring their own pillow," said Dr. Ky-Yung in a recent radio interview. An even _____ solution, according to celebrity doctor Dr. Kim-He Gun,

8. (A) good
   (B) the best
   (C) better
   (D) greatest

from the hit television series Ask the Specialist, is to avoid business travel altogether.

The studies have also shown that time away from families can be detrimental to family life. After all, everything from _____ meals to

9. (A) preparation
   (B) prepared
   (C) preparing
   (D) prepare

driving kids to and from school is affected when one parent goes away on business.

Les questions 10 à 12 font référence à l'annonce publicitaire suivante.

Fernwood Office Towers

Now Leasing

Fernwood Office Towers is the premier office building newly opened in the East Park district. Fernwood offers the luxury and convenience of a downtown address without the high downtown rental rates.

Is your work space overcrowded? Are you looking for a _____ office at an

10. (A) more spacious than
(B) more spacious
(C) most spacious
(D) the most spacious affordable price? Fernwood Office Towers has the solution for you. Fernwood offers a full-service building with an underground parking garage. All offices have views of the park. Rates start at $500 per square foot*. With advantages like these, why consider _____ anywhere else? Call our rental office today to tour the hottest new office

11. (A) rent
(B) rents
(C) to rent
(D) renting

building in the city.

*A five-year lease _____ be signed in order to qualify for this special rate.

12. (A) must
(B) might
(C) could
(D) can

PARTICIPES

Dans le test TOEIC nouvelle formule, vous devez sélectionner le participe qui convient (participe présent ou participe passé) et vous devez déterminer sa position correcte dans la phrase.

VERBE	speak
PARTICIPE PASSÉ	spoken	The language spoken by most people . . . A spoken language . . .
PARTICIPE PRÉSENT	speaking	The woman, speaking loudly, . . .

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Il n'est pas nécessaire d'utiliser le verbe be avec la proposition participiale.
  INCORRECT [The worker was causing the most problems was fired.]
  CORRECT The worker causing the most problems was fired.
- La proposition participiale précède ou suit directement le nom qu'elle modifie.
  INCORRECT [The cat scared the child attacking the mouse.]
  CORRECT The cat attacking the mouse scared the child.
- Le participe passé représente une forme passive réduite. Cela signifie que la personne ou la chose qu'il décrit a subi l'action et n'en est pas le sujet.
  INCORRECT [The meeting scheduling for this morning has been canceled.]
  CORRECT The meeting scheduled for this morning has been canceled.

ADJECTIFS VERBAUX

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Le participe présent, ou forme en -ing, peut être un adjectif qui décrit la personne ou la chose qui est à l'origine ou qui a été à l'origine d'un sentiment ou d'une réaction.

  INCORRECT [The company's amazed progress has captured everyone's attention.]

  CORRECT The company's amazing progress has captured everyone's attention.

- Le participe présent peut être un adjectif qui décrit l'utilisation ou l'objectif d'une personne ou d'une chose. Il peut également décrire l'activité dans laquelle une personne ou une chose est impliquée.

  INCORRECT [We need more filed cabinets in this office.]

  CORRECT We need more filing cabinets in this office.

  INCORRECT Promoted employees from within the company improves morale.

  CORRECT Promoting employees from within the company improves morale.

- Le participe passé peut être un adjectif qui décrit la personne ou la chose qui a subi ou qui subit le sentiment ou la réaction.

  INCORRECT [The amazing stockholders rushed to buy more shares in the company.]

  CORRECT The amazed stockholders rushed to buy more shares in the company.

PRONOMS

Les pronoms peuvent prendre la place des noms ou des groupes nominaux. Il existe quatre formes de pronoms.

LES PRONOMS SUJETS	I, you, she, etc.
LES PRONOMS OBJETS	me, you, her, etc.
LES PRONOMS POSSESSIFS	mine, yours, hers, etc.
LES PRONOMS RÉFLÉCHIS	myself, yourself, herself, etc.

Dans le test TOEIC nouvelle formule, il est important de ne pas oublier d'utiliser le pronom approprié (forme) au bon endroit (position) ou l'adjectif possessif approprié + groupe nominal.

STRUCTURES À RETENIR

- Le pronom ne peut pas suivre directement son antécédent.
  INCORRECT [Shipping rates to Panama they fluctuate frequently.]
  CORRECT Shipping rates to Panama fluctuate frequently.
- Le pronom s'accorde avec son antécédent en genre, en nombre et relativement à sa fonction grammaticale.
  INCORRECT [That was our shipment, so we will pay for them.]
  CORRECT That was our shipment, so we will pay for it.
- Le pronom possessif prend la place de l'adjectif possessif + nom ou groupe nominal. Ne le confondez pas avec l'adjectif possessif (my, your, her, etc.), qui doit précéder un nom ou un groupe nominal.
  INCORRECT [That's your book; this is my.]
  CORRECT That's your book; this is mine.

EXERCICE D'APPLICATION 2

Les questions 1 à 3 font référence à la lettre suivante.

TONY TAN
Internet Wizardry
9 Jianguolu
Chaoyangqu, BEIJING 109625

Zheng Yi
Flat 6, 2/F
50 Kennedy Road
WAN CHAI, HONG KONG

Dear Mr. Zheng Yi: October 2, 20__

Thank you for purchasing the 987 Mbps Wireless Router. This router will allow you to link your laptop computer to the Internet. If you have any problems installing your router, please use _____ p-chart help-line on our website. Our

1. (A) its
(B) their
(C) our
(D) his technicians are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Before you can proceed with the setup, you will need to make sure that a few basic requirements are _____. These requirements are outlined in the enclosed

2. (A) meet
(B) met
(C) meeting
(D) to meet

Installation Guide.

Once your router is installed, please take a moment to register your product. You will need to register in order to receive updates from our _____ system.

3. (A) auto
(B) automated
(C) automating
(D) automatically

Congratulations on purchasing this exciting new technology. Enjoy your wireless connection!

Sincerely,

Tony Tan

Tony Tan
President, Internet Wizardry

Les questions 4 à 6 font référence à l'e-mail suivant.

To: adriana
From: carmela
Re: New Partnership

Dear Adriana,

It was great to finally meet you in person on Monday. I hope you enjoyed the luncheon. The food was delicious, wasn't it? I'm excited about our company's new _____ campaign. I think we will be able to sell lots of vitamins because of it.

4. (A) advertising
(B) advertised
(C) advertiser
(D) advertise

As you know, I will be training you via e-mail for the first few weeks. I should remind you that I will often be in a different time zone than _____. I'll

5. (A) me
(B) you
(C) her
(D) them

forward you a schedule of my travel itinerary for you to keep on file. Also, Fabiana may be able to answer some of your questions if you can't reach me. You met her at the luncheon, didn't you? She is our _____ manager.

6. (A) marketed
(B) marketing
(C) to market
(D) for marketing

Anyhow, what I want to do first is see how much you know about our products. There is a quiz attached. You aren't being marked on this quiz, and your score won't affect your pay at all. I just need to get a better idea of what type of training you need.

Please return this quiz to me by tomorrow evening at the latest.

Welcome to the company!

Carmela

Les questions 7 à 9 font référence à l'article suivant.

Business Daily Magazine—October Edition

Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD), also known as the winter blues, can do more than put a person in a bad mood. According to psychologists at the University of Chicago School of Medicine, the winter blues is a serious cyclical depression that can drastically affect a person's work performance.

One reason that SAD becomes such a problem in the workplace is that people go to extreme measures to combat the cyclical depression. While some people compensate for the lack of sunshine by overeating, others rely on alcohol to improve their spirits. Both of these indulgences cause people to feel less motivated at home and on the job.

In his recent best seller, Building a Healthy Workforce, Michael E. London, M.D., suggests that approximately 15 million Americans suffer from some degree of SAD. As London says in _____ book, the winter blues last longer than just the three or four

7. (A) its
   (B) my
   (C) his
   (D) our

months of winter. People with SAD begin to notice their moods _____ as soon as

8. (A) changes
   (B) changing
   (C) to change
   (D) changed

they start thinking about the onset of winter. For many people the symptoms of SAD are triggered as soon as the clocks go back an hour and we lose an hour of sunlight.

There are a number of different types of therapy available. Light therapy is the most common form and can be as simple as sitting under a warm light for 30 to 90 minutes a day. _____ salons are also proven to reduce the symptoms of SAD.

9. (A) Tanned
   (B) Tan
   (C) Tanning
   (D) For tanning

Les questions 10 à 12 font référence à l'article suivant.

Reducing Energy Costs

People everywhere are becoming concerned about the high energy prices. _____

10. (A) Rise
(B) Rose
(C) Risen
(D) Rising

energy costs are forcing many offices to implement certain energy-saving measures. For example, special energy-efficient lighting systems are becoming more and more common. These energy-saving lights remain on in an _____ room but switch off when the

11. (A) occupy
(B) occupied
(C) occupying
(D) occupancy

room is not in use. Ambient room temperature is another area of concern. Many offices now have a policy of keeping the temperature slightly higher in the summer and slightly cooler in the winter than _____ did in the past. This is actually one of the most effective

12. (A) they
(B) them
(C) he
(D) it

energy-saving measures that can be taken. Changing the room temperature by just a few degrees can mean many hundreds of dollars of savings in energy costs without any serious sacrifice of comfort.

AUTRES EXERCICES D'APPLICATION

Les questions 1 à 3 font référence à l'offre d'emploi suivante.

dailyjobpost.com

A place to find a career, network with others, build a résumé, and much more.

YOUR SEARCH: Temporary part-time administrative or clerical position in the New York City region.

POSTING 1
Contact Information:
Cheryl Stevens
Umbrella Staffing Co.
21 Madison Ave, 12th Floor
New York, NY 10027
Telephone: (212) 555-8000

Job Description:
An established life insurance company _____ an executive assistant

1. (A) sought
(B) seeks
(C) to seek
(D) in seeking

with a minimum of five years' experience in an administrative position. Prefers candidates with prior knowledge of insurance premiums.

A Level 2 Accounting Certificate from a recognized college is a prerequisite for this job. Only those candidates with strong interpersonal skills will be selected for an interview. Please do not respond to this posting _____ you meet all of the above requirements. Qualified applicants

2. (A) even if
(B) whether
(C) unless
(D) since

should send a cover letter and résumé to the above address.

Click here to view the next posting that matches your selection.

To gain access to exclusive job postings, _____ must register as a

3. (A) they
(B) we
(C) you
(D) she dailyjobpost member. Membership is a one-time fee of $29.99. Sign up here.

Les questions 4 à 6 font référence à l'annonce suivante.

Announcement
An Associate's Certificate in Project Management has been awarded to Sunwoong Kim
Date: June 1, 20__

Ms. Sunwoong Kim of 108 Pyong-dong Chogro-ku, Seoul, has _____ completed

4. (A) closely
(B) practically
(C) unexpectedly
(D) successfully

four core courses in the following areas:

- Risk Management
- Preparing Contracts
- Cost Control
- Leadership and Communications

Ms. Kim earned this certificate through AGI's e-training course. AGI is an accredited institution and is _____ with Ajou, Andong, and Anyang universities as well as 50

5. (A) affiliation
(B) affiliated
(C) affiliate
(D) affiliates

other postsecondary institutions worldwide.

This student graduated at the top of _____ class, earning a combined average of

6. (A) his
(B) her
(C) its
(D) their

94 percent in two consecutive semesters. This mark is based on classroom participation, weekly assignments, and final exams.

Should you require a personal reference letter for this student, please contact AGI's coordinator at 051-555-1616. AGI student records and transcripts are kept on file for at least three years after graduation.

Les questions 7 à 9 font référence à la décharge suivante.

Business Market Today: Disclaimer

Business Market Today is an open website created by individuals in the business sector who volunteer their own ideas. Contributors can express personal views that may not be considered _____ by all.

7. (A) legible
   (B) appropriate
   (C) collective
   (D) written

These views have not been reviewed by professionals and may contain inaccurate and unreliable information. Business Market Today does not guarantee the _____ of the content found on this website.

8. (A) payment
   (B) readers
   (C) validity
   (D) variation

The staff, editors, and other contributors of Business Market Today will in no way be held legally responsible for the information on this website. Similarly, users will not be held accountable for reusing, modifying, or copying any information found on this site.

Our database is connected to a server in Sweden's Dalarna County, _____ freedom of speech is protected. Material that is posted on our site may violate publication laws in other countries or jurisdictions.

9. (A) there
   (B) where
   (C) this
   (D) that

Business Market Today thanks you for reviewing this page and hopes you enjoy and contribute to this online resource.

Les questions 10 à 12 font référence à l'article suivant.

Crispy Cookie Profits Rose

The Crispy Cookie Company is a relative newcomer to the food industry scene, and the company looks like it is finally here to stay. Crispy Cookie's announcement of _____

10. (A) its
(B) his
(C) ours
(D) theirs

third-quarter profit of $75 million was pleasing news to some investors.

Following the company's $8 million loss during the same period last year, a large number of _____ investors took their money out of the company. Those that stuck with

11. (A) fright
(B) frighten
(C) frightened
(D) frightening

their Crispy Cookie investments are taking a handsome profit now. "This shows that things can _____ around for an ailing company," said Crispy Cookie CEO, Stephen

12. (A) turn
(B) turns
(C) to turn
(D) turning

Niederberger. "After we introduced our new line of fruit-flavored cookies at the beginning of this year, our products just flew off the shelves. Our product developers and marketing experts worked hard to bring this about, and now we are seeing the fruits of their labors."